ACER background information

The Agency for the Cooperation of Energy Regulators (ACER) was established by the third package. As an EU Agency, ACER fosters cooperation among European Energy Regulators to promote energy market integration and harmonisation of regulatory frameworks across the European Union, to deliver:

- A more competitive, integrated market which offers consumers more choice;
- An efficient energy infrastructure guaranteeing the free movement of energy across borders and the transportation of new energy sources, thus enhancing security of supply for EU businesses and consumers;
- Integrity and transparency in energy market guaranteeing fair and cost-reflective prices for consumers, as well as deterrence of abusive practices.

The Agency is headed by its Director, Alberto Pototschnig and comprises four departments and three Boards: the Administrative Board, the Board of Regulators (BoR) and the Board of Appeal. The BoR has responsibilities related to the regulatory activities of the Agency and it comprises one senior representative as the member from each NRA of the 28 Member States and one non-voting representative of the European Commission. The Director also participates at the BoR meetings. The BoR meets approximately on a monthly basis. Lord Mogg is the Chair and Walter Boltz the Vice Chair of the BoR.
